Jobe Waters is a freelance photographer from the New England area and tries to capture the everyday life and surroundings of this historical place. When taking photos, Jobe loves to get an image of something that is seen everyday and find a new element of beauty. He hopes to share his vision of the simple things that make this place or any other place that he visits special. His experience ranges from portrait, action sports and all types of landmark photography. In Jobe's own words "I thank you for taking the time to view and enjoy my work."
